Thankful Tree Craft Instructions

Objective:

This activity helps students express gratitude by creating a tree filled with things they are thankful for. It encourages reflection, creativity, and fine motor skills while promoting a sense of thankfulness.

Materials Needed:

1. Printed Thankful Tree template (one per student)
2. Printed Leaves sheets (one or two per student, depending on how many leaves they wish to use)
3. Scissors
4. Glue sticks or tape
5. Crayons, markers, or colored pencils

Instructions:

- Introduction: Begin by discussing with the class the concept of thankfulness. Ask students to share examples of things or people they are thankful for in their lives, such as family, friends, food, and fun activities.
- Have students color their leaves and tree (or have leaves printed on colored paper)
- Cutting the Leaves: Have students carefully cut out their leaves. They can use both the pre-labeled leaves and fill in the blank leaves with their own words of things they are thankful for. Encourage them to come up with unique or personal ideas.
- Decorating the Tree: After students have cut out their leaves, they can begin gluing or taping the leaves to their tree.
- Optional Decoration: Students can decorate the background of the page with additional drawings, such as clouds, sun, grass, or more leaves falling.
- Sharing (Optional): Have students share their trees with the class or in small groups. Each student can explain a few things they are thankful for and why.

Teacher Tip:

- This activity can also be used as part of a larger Thanksgiving or gratitude lesson. Consider creating a class Thankful Tree bulletin board by combining individual student trees into one large display!

This activity is a fun and meaningful way to help students express their gratitude and reflect on the positive things in their lives.
